

THE THUG CONVICTED.

The conviction of the Thug conspirators, in San Francisco, headed by the notorious Josselyn is a big victory for the Examiner. It unearthed the conspiracies of this gang of rascals, and while the police force and the other newspapers in the city condoled with the Examiner on its being the victim of a sell, it kept steadily at work and step by step landed the wretches in the penitentiary.

Josselyn posed as a martyr persecuted by the press. This plan so often the refuge of oily rascals is getting played out all over the coast and when a man cannot make any other plea it is safe to presume that he is guilty—in fact he generally is.

An honest man assailed by the press makes no such childish plea. He presents his own case backed by the proper proofs.

The conviction of Josselyn by the single handed efforts of a newspaper when the famous detective force of the city was unable to find out anything shows that the reporters of the paper were shrewder men than the detectives and great praise is due them for their successful work.

COAST COWARDICE.

With all the brag and bluster about the vast capital on this coast, there are few places where it is so cowardly as here. The great irrigation scheme of the Nevada Land and Cattle Company furnishes an instance of this timidity.

The company have begun the raising of cattle and alfalfa on a tremendous scale and with great success. They have constructed vast reservoirs to catch the waste water in the winter and so far have succeeded as to be able to irrigate over 15,000 acres of land considered absolutely valueless before.

Not a dollar of Nevada money, however, went into this splendidly paying enterprise. Those who originated the scheme were unable to get any one on this coast to invest a cent but in England they found the funds at once.

The timid coast capitalist must see $20 in sight before he puts out $10. In a few years most of the big enterprises on this coast will be run by British capital.

Benner's Prophecies for 1888.

Samuel Benner, an Ohio farmer, who has gained considerable notoriety through the newspapers for his predictions of future events, and who a few years ago published a small volume on the ups and downs of prices, which had a great sale, has communicated to the Real Estate Journal, of San Francisco, his prophecies for the year 1888, in which he says:

"This year, 1888, being the closing year in this cycle of low prices—seven years from 1881—is the golden opportunity to commence the foundation for a business. If there is any benefit to be derived from a knowledge of these cycles in trade, it will be in taking advantage of them.

"Young men who are about to commence their business career should embrace their present opportunity. There are but few of these chances in an ordinary life. It requires about ten years to complete an up and down in general trade.

"When the depressions which follow commercial crises reach their lowest limit, as determined by these price cycles, they afford the best opportunities for investment, and the height of speculative eras are the most dangerous periods to make a commencement in any enterprise.

"This is the opportunity for people to make investments in agricultural, commercial, mining and industrial operations.

"George Peabody laid the foundation for his fortune by buying American securities in one of our commercial depressions."

—After Charley Boruck gets through with a few more libel suits, he will apply for admission to the Art Property Society.
